

D.D. TRANS (1963)

lives and works in Antwerp, Belgium.

The work of D.D.Trans may look superficial, but it digs deeper than at first sight appears. "Light hearted" better covers the content: roguish, playful, and non-monumental he turns objects - in the eyes of a good spectator - into a less noncommittal state. With small gestures he questions the language of things. He pulls a spring and cocks it. More than that: unpretentious but well-aimed he researches the status of a found object as artwork.
